D. Keith Johnson Named CEO of Helios AMC

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Helios AMC, a special servicer that provides a full range of commercial real estate debt and equity management and investment services, today announced that D. Keith Johnson will join the firm as chief executive officer, effective immediately. As part of his duties as CEO, Mr. Johnson will oversee all of Helios's strategic growth initiatives, including expanding its geographic reach and adding complementary advisory services that are focused on the real estate and financial services industries. Helios is a Ranieri Partners company.

“Keith brings a broad real estate skill set and great energy, and I am very pleased that he has agreed to join Helios.”

“Keith brings a broad real estate skill set and great energy, and I am very pleased that he has agreed to join Helios,” said Lewis S. Ranieri, chairman of Helios. “Keith and I worked together for more than 12 years during the savings and loan/RTC era, when Keith created a viable business by maximizing distressed assets. He also has experience growing and expanding real estate businesses. He is a tremendous addition to Helios, which will remain focused on providing strategic solutions to help real estate investors make informed decisions during these tumultuous times.”

From 2006 to 2009, Mr. Johnson, 51, served as president and CEO of Clayton Holdings, which at the time was the largest residential loan due diligence and surveillance firm in the U.S. and Europe. Prior to that, he was executive vice president and COO of Washington Mutual's Commercial Group. Prior to that, Mr. Johnson worked for Bank United in Houston for 14 years, where he served in a variety of roles ranging from CFO to managing director of Capital Markets. Mr. Johnson is a CPA.
